

2012 NEOA Achiever Enid Rey

Enid Rey is the Director of School Choice for the Hartford Public Schools where she works closely with the State Department of Education and Legislature with funding and compliance goals as outlined in the Sheff v. O'neil desegregation agreement. She is also a current member of the Annie D. Casey Foundation's Children and Family Fellowship who works to improve outcomes for at risk children. Ms. Rey wrote passionately about the skills and competences that she learned at CONNPEP/TRiO and being the first person – and woman- to attend college. She also states that in each of her professional roles she recreates and provides for others the gifts and blessings she received from her educational opportunity program.
